Origin of Treasure Mountain Festival

The story begins closely after 1758, the year in which a band of Shawnee Indians attacked Fort Seybert. Those settlers who escaped the massacre gave this account of their captivity:

After leaving the site of the fort, the Indians, along with their prisoners, went northward across the mountain into Greenawalt Gap. From there, they journeyed through Germany Valley, Seneca, and onto their destination in the Ohio River Valley.

The valued possessions and treasures belonging to the settlers were collected in an iron kettle, a pole was inserted through the handle, and two braves carried the treasure. As trudging up the east slope of South Fork Mountain became more burdensome and the fear of pursuit made faster travel advisable, the two Indians fell behind the traveling group.

When they joined the captives and Indians, they were empty-handed; apparently they had hidden the treasure in the mountain. That they later returned to claim the valuables is doubtful, as this was their last known visit to the area.

In the years since, many local inhabitants have believed so strongly in the treasure's existence, that they searched the still-visible mountain trail.

While no one has succeeded in uncovering this ancient "pot of gold," treasures far more valuable and bounteous have been discovered. Underlying the natural beauty of the landscape, man can find virtually anything he is seeking. The farmer has cultivated acres and acres of fertile soil; the geologist has found in the rock a story of formation and a source of income; the biologist has encountered rare species of birds and plants; the spelunker has explored numerous caves and caverns; the sportsman has found a paradise amidst dense forests and sparkling streams; the vacationer has found camping areas complete with swimming and picnicking facilities; and the pleasure-seeker has found peaceful surroundings and scenic attractions.

We would like to share our many treasures with you. Whether you visit us to enjoy our cool climate and mountain scenery, or to consider our area for future investment, we cannot help but think that in so doing you will find our "treasures" close to that which is good and wholesome in life.

Welcome to Our 53rd Festival!

The Treasure Mountain Festival Association heartily welcomes you, the guests and residents of Pendleton County, to our 53rd Annual Treasure Mountain Festival. There are many committees and organizations that have worked diligently to ensure that this year's festival has something for everyone. May you enjoy your visit so much this year that you will join us again for our 54th year on the third weekend of September 2022.

The headquarters is located on Main Street Parking Lot.

Parking at TMF

The Treasure Mountain Festival Association, in conjunction with the Franklin Town Council, County Sheriff's Office and the State Police, asks for everyone's cooperation for no parking on Saturday, from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. throughout the parade route, which runs from GreatValu down Main St. to the Courthouse and down Walnut St. This will afford the much needed emergency lane required by our Rescue Squad and Fire Departments, should they be needed.

Additional parking is now available at the New Franklin Elementary School on South Branch St., Saturday and Sunday for a donation.

We encourage you to bring your lawn chairs and enjoy the hospitality of our friends along the parade route. We do request that lawn chairs are not set up prior to 2:30 p.m. in any pedestrian route due to excess congestion on the sidewalks.

Confederate Rd. will be closed to non-emergency vehicles during the Festival on Friday from noon to 9 p.m., Saturday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. During these times, there will be foot traffic only. The road will be closed from the top of the hill to the entrance of the Bowling Alley.

Handicap parking is available below the craft building.

Please do not set up lawn chairs prior to 2:30 PM on Parade Day.

53rd Annual Treasure Mountain Festival

Who Is That on The Cover of the Program Guide?

Alan Miller

Alan first started volunteering with the Festival in 2004 when he became the chairperson of the Heritage Craft Demonstrators. In 2006, he was elected Vice President of the Treasure Mountain Festival Association. Alan became President of the Association in 2007, a position he held until his death in 2019.

Alice Hartman

Alice was a very talented quilter and chaired the Treasure Mountain Festival Quilt Show for many years. She also won many first place awards for her period window displays at Hartman's Furniture Store during the Treasure Mountain Festival.

Elsie Boggs

Elsie and her husband Gordon Boggs bought what is now known as the Boggs House in 1904. In 1926, she was a leader in the formation of the Pendleton County Historical Society. In 2008 the house was donated to the county for a museum for Pendleton County history. The museum is open for tours during the Festival.

Buster Waybright

Buster's love for antique cars lead him to organize the Treasure Mountain Festival Antique Car, Truck, Tractor and Engine show. He managed the show for the Festival for 24 years. The show has now appropriately been named after him.

Eston Teter

Eston was a founding member of the Treasure Mountain Festival Committee. He made wooden shingles using a steam engine. The cedar shingles were branded with Treasure Mountain Festival and the year. They sold for $1 at the Festival. Eston also ran his steam engine in the parade for many years.

We realize there are so many legendary people associated with the Treasure Mountain Festival over the 53 years it has existed. These 5 were chosen by the association to highlight the different aspects of the festival. Who knows, there may be more legends featured in future editions of the TMF Guide.

Proudly
Introducing
Our 2021

Mountain
Festival
Parade Marshal

Tom Firor remembers the very beginning of the Treasure Mountain Festival. He and his wife Eve bought their land on Friends Run in 1969. Tom recalls watching the women of Deer Run in old time dresses stirring apple butter on the porch of the Franklin Hotel and Eston Teter’s steam engine leading the parade.

Tom is honored to be chosen as the Grand Marshall for the 53rd Treasure Mountain Festival Parade. He states that it is an enormous improvement over his prior participation in the parade some years ago. That parade featured a pair of very large oxen and he and Nikki Wilfong, operating as The Purple Pooper Scoopers, were assigned to follow the oxen and clean up after them.

In the 1980’s, as part of the Festival, Tom demonstrated honey extraction and bee keeping in the Sites Chevrolet garage. It was the perfect place to make a mess and far enough indoors to not attract bees. Tom explained the work of bee keeping while operating a 4-frame honey extractor. Sometimes he would allow kids to operate the extractor for bees wax chewing gum.

His most significant contribution to the Festival has been leading the Franklin Historical Walk for the last 25 years. Tom describes the walk as follows: “The Walk starts at the Court House where I describe the town’s founding and the five major tragedies that have struck the town over its 217 year history. We then proceed to the corner of Walnut Street and Back Street, stopping at the old McCoy law office on the way. From the corner of the Methodist Church lot we can see much that is significant in the town’s history. A highlight of this stop is a visit by John McClure III (impersonated by his great grand nephew John Dalen). Mr. McClure was a monumental figure in shaping the town and county after the Civil War. From there, the Walk proceeds up Dirty Run to the General Boggs’s stone house built in 1823, then to the Mt. Hiser cemetery, up Back Street to the Anderson Hill house where refreshments are served. And, finally, downhill to the Bowman house on Main Street where Tom Bowman recounts the history of his house and family.

Muzzleloader Shooting Contest

A Muzzleloader Shooting and Knife and Hawk contest sponsored by the Killbuck Riflemen Muzzleloading Club will be held at their shooting range located in Fort Seybert, 10 miles east of Franklin on the Fort Seybert Road in the field adjacent to the old fort site. Just follow the signs.

On Saturday evening at 7 p.m. there will be a reenactment of the Burning of Fort Seybert. After that, there may be a pickin' and grinnin' session.

Everyone is welcome to come and participate, set up camp, bring your wares or just come to look around. Food will be available all day for our appreciated festival attendees.

The Killbuck Riflemen Club got it's name from a Native American warrior and medicine man named Killbuck who massacred Fort Upper Tract and Fort Seybert in April of 1758.

The club was formed at its current location in 1990. The Club maintains around 40 members from year to year which assists with the upkeep of the club grounds such as mowing, rebuilding of the fort that is burned on Saturday evening of Treasure Mountain Festival weekend and other building projects from time to time.

The purpose and mission of the club is to practice and teach primitive living skills and to pass on the history of Fort Seybert.

The club also supports the 4-H program, Boy Scouts of America and the local chapter of the Wild Turkey Federation.

The club also sponsors several muzzleloader shoots throughout the year.

Annual Treasure Hunt Offers $500 & Great Prizes

Want to hunt for treasure (aka $500 & prizes) at the 53rd Annual Treasure Mountain Festival? The Pendleton County Chamber of Commerce invites you to participate in the annual treasure hunt for a chance to win $500 and gifts provided by local businesses.

Our version of the treasure hunt is a nod back to the legend of fabled treasure buried in the mountains by Delaware Native Americans after the historical burning of Fort Seybert.

Clues will lead you to 15 locations around the Franklin area inside and outside of down-town. At each correct location that solves the two-clue riddle will be a key to open a treasure chest. The two sets of clues will be released on Saturday at 7am and 1pm.

Please note that keys will not be placed in flower pots or in any delicate or fragile locations. Please refrain from damaging any private property during the hunt.

Clues will be posted at the TMF Craft Building and the Pendleton County

Boggs House: Pendleton County Historical Museum

Great things have been happening with the Pendleton County Historical Society. In April 2020 work began on the enlargement and improvement of our museum known as the Boggs House: Pendleton County Historical Museum. Construction was completed by the fall and provided much needed space on two levels.

The museum is housed in what is believed to be the oldest known house still standing in Pendleton County and dates to circa 1758. Built of logs and used as a frontier fort it was originally located three miles north of Franklin. In the early 1800's, after the need for defense against Indians passed, the large logs were moved, added to and reconstructed into a dwelling at the present location, 49 Oak Street, Franklin.

Several families occupied the home over the years and in 1904 it became the home of Gordon and Elsie Boggs. Mrs. Boggs was very interested in Pendleton County history and was the author of several books and articles on county and local history. In 1926 she was a leader in the formation of the Pendleton County Historical Society.

In 2008 her daughter, Mrs. Grace Boggs Dyer, bequeathed the house and contents to the Pendleton County Historical Society for a museum to display items of county history, and to further research and preserve the history of Pendleton County. In keeping with her wishes, the museum was established and opened to the public.

The original fort walls have been exposed on two sides to show the size of the logs and the rare full dovetail construction method used. They are now interior walls in the new addition, which has doubled the display area of the building.

The main entrance located off Oak Street is itself an important county artifact. When Franklin High School was torn down in 1999, the entrance to the Colonial Revival building was saved by the Society and placed in storage. It has now been reconstructed to become an impressive new entrance to the museum. Besides the building itself, exhibits include local furniture from the 19th and early 20th centuries, Civil War artifacts related to Pendleton County, World War I and World War II artifacts and uniforms worn by local servicemen, toys, and folk arts from Pendleton County.

Chamber of Commerce office window. Treasure seekers will have until Saturday at 5:15pm to find the keys. When a key is found, hold on to it until Saturday after the parade and present your key at the Festival Main Stage during the Treasure Opening Ceremony.

There is no limit to the number of keys a seeker can find. Your key(s) will open one or more of the 15 treasure chests. Each chest will have its own treasure but one will have $500 inside, graciously donated by our sponsors.

Prize donators will be announced during the ceremony. Bring your key or send another person to act on your behalf for the ceremony in order to get the prize associated with that key. Keys will not be redeemable for prizes after the ceremony. Our handmade keys remain the property of the Chamber of Commerce.

In the event of inclement weather and the stage is closed, the ceremony will be moved to the following day and a notice will be noticed with details on the stage and the Chamber of Commerce's Facebook page..

A new exhibit for 2021 deals with the West Virginian Golden Horseshow Program and Pendleton County's participation in it since its inception. Every effort has been made to locate as many artifacts as possible and to identify county winners from 1931 to the present. Included in the collection is the history of the program, pins, ceremony programs, photos, certificates, letters and other related materials.

A cordial invitation is extended to all attendees of the Treasure Mountain Festival to visit us at the Boggs House Museum. This is a location that should not be missed by anyone interested in history in general and Pendleton County history in particular.

County Played a Critical Role in the Civil War

Pendleton County lies in the valleys of the North Fork South Branch and South Fork of the Potomac River. These valleys saw an incredible amount of troop activity and action during the Civil War. This bountiful region may well have been known as the stockyard of the Confederacy, for it managed to supply stock to Confederates in Virginia at least as late as November 1864.

Federal and Confederate forces alternated occupation of Pendleton County and Franklin. While General Fremont headquartered in Franklin with his Union troops, General "Stonewall" Jackson was 10 miles south of Franklin on the road to McDowell with his headquarters in the Henry Simmons house.

"All through the afternoon of May 8, the people of Franklin could hear the roar of the Battle of McDowell. They were anxious as to the result thereof. Many men from the town and county were known to be engaged. As this was the first real battle of the war to occur nearby, it was listened to with apprehension and dread.

Almost all the way from McDowell the advance of the Confederates were in reach of the rear guard of the retiring (Federal) army and almost constant skirmishing between them was kept up. The Union cavalry was driven back upon the infantry lines. During the resulting skirmishing and while the Confederate attacking force was partly concealed behind a log dwelling just south of the lane leading to the McCoy Mill and a frame barn which formerly stood north of the lane, a Parrott gun on the flat east of the South Branch near Franklin fired five shells through these two buildings, one of which exploded inside the dwelling." (Fremont Occupies Franklin; Twixt North and South, by H.M. Calhoun.)

According to Elsie Byrd Boggs in A History of Franklin, in 1904, "Coming around the bend of Friends Hill there was a deep depression near the top where a lot of Union soldiers had been buried after the skirmish with Confederates on this hill. Their bodies had been removed but the depression in the ground was never filled in."

There were skirmishes, guerrilla, battles and killings throughout the county. The niter industry was carried out in caves in several parts of Pendleton.

Local groups were organized for both sides of the conflict, and many joined the Federal and Confederate armies. Families were embroiled in split loyalties, just as the rest of the country. No matter which side they served, Union or Confederate, they were all Americans.

There are several groups in Pendleton County today that honor and preserve the history of the Civil War, and the contributions this county made. The Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Order of the Bonnie Blue Phoebe Warner Chapter, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Brig. James Boggs' Camp 1706.

Beard & Mustache Contest

The annual Beard and Mustache Contest will be held on Friday, Sept. 17 at 6:30 p.m. on the Courthouse steps.

Anyone with a beard and/or mustache is welcome to enter, without charge. Judging will be done by a committee on the basis of the overall appearance and grooming of the contestant's beard or mustache. Trophies will be awarded to the winners and to the second runners-up.

- There are three areas to compete:
1. Mustache
 2. Old Timers - Mountain Man
 3. Trimmed Beard

Cornhole Tournament To be Held Saturday

Come play the game that everyone loves! Last year the rain didn't allow the tournament to go on, but this year there is an indoor venue in case of bad weather! The tournament will be held at the town park ball field on Saturday, unless it rains.

The entry fee is $10 per person. The tournament will begin at approximately 4:30 p.m. or immediately following the parade.

Cash prizes will be awarded!

Sites Old Homestead

This year's badge features the Sites Homestead located in the Monongahela National Forest near the Seneca Rocks Discovery Center in Seneca Rocks. The homestead was originally built as a one room cabin about 1839 by Jacob Sites. William Sites, one of his sons, is thought to have used it as an inn for a few years, known as The Wayside Inn. Over the years it was expanded to a two-story structure by various descendants who lived there until around 1947. After that the building was used as a storage shed for hay and farm machinery for several years.

When the National Forest Service purchased the building in 1969 it was in poor condition. They began reconstruction on the building in the late 1980's and replicated most of the original details. In 1992 it was used as a temporary visitor center after the Seneca Rocks Visitor Center burned. In 2008 the roof was replaced and a front porch added.

Nathan Jenkins - Raised in Page County Va., son of White Oak Basketmaker Clyde Jenkins Nathan Jenkins is not a stranger to keeping alive folklife traditions. As a young boy Nathan developed interest in working the wood for making his own white oak baskets. Using wood that was discarded by his father Nathan learned the art of working the wood.

Traveling to 17th century market fairs at the Claude Moore Colonial Farm Nathan crossed paths with a volunteer there who demonstrated the spring pole lathe: Tom Kluwen. Tom introduced Nathan to the art of the spring pole lathe. Nathan, an avid reader read books on the art of turning the wood and Tom's encouragement and basic hands on approach helped Nathan to further his interest in wood turning.

As Nathan has become more intrigued with all varieties of wood and what wood is best for what purpose his accomplishments include hand hewn dough bowls; chairs with white oak split bottom seats; hand turned goblets; bowls; etc.

There is no electricity to run the spring pole lathe. It is powered by the up and down motion of Nathan's foot on the lathe's pedal. This is an art that few people have ever seen demonstrated. This way of working the wood is awesome to see. It offers a real appreciation of times past.

Glen Bryant - Glen is a millwright, blacksmith and farmer who resides in the Clifton Forge area of Virginia. He raises horses and cattle on his farm and sponsors a barn day at his farm for school students in the Clifton Forge area. Glen is a self-taught blacksmith and learned much of his craft from his father and other blacksmiths. He has been a blacksmith for over 40 years.

Jean Stephens - A family trip to Old Sturbridge Village in Massachusetts introduced Jean to spinning and weaving. In 2001 she finally bought her first spinning wheel and learned how to spin. Since that time she has been involved in numerous reenactments and spinning demonstrations. Under the name of Manduka Moon, she knits, spins and makes jewelry, as well as participating in numerous juried arts and craft shows throughout Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. She is also a contributing artist in the Morgan County art extravaganza fundraiser.

Heritage crafts and artwork offers a nice change of pace from her daily job as an Information Technology Project Administrator at a financial corporation in the Richmond area.

Tom Campbell - When Tom was having dinner at the former Cabin restaurant one evening years ago, he became interested in the buckets and churns on display. He discovered, while working at Bowman's, that Richard's uncle, Tyson Propst, was a cooper who made the items. After meeting Tyson, Tom asked him to teach him the craft. Tyson, who had been in the West Virginia Folk Art Apprenticeship Pro-gram through Davis & Elkins College, gave Tom's name to the program coordinator. Tom was shortly thereafter enrolled in the program. Tom's cooperage now includes buckets, churns, water pitchers, dippers, cups and canteens.

Nordyke and Marmon Grist Mill - David and Lou Armentrout and family from Dayton, VA found this mill in an old barn in Augusta County VA. The mill has 18" French stone buhrs mounted in a heavy cast iron frame. The patent date on it is August 1, 1871. It sold for $172.00 in the 1900s. The Armentrouts demonstrate how corn meal, wheat and buckwheat flour is made using the mill attached to a 1926 McCormick-Deering tractor by a long belt to the drive mill.

Dulcimer Dames - The Dulcimer Dames will be performing at the Sew and Sews Quilt Guild on Friday, Sept. 17 from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. This is a musical group from Pendleton County, The Dulcimer Dames are Sharon Granofsky, Roxanne Hubbard, Claudia Evick, Deborah Sowar, Rosemary Thompson, and Paula Waggy. Featuring mountain dulcimers and the hammer dulcimer, this group demonstrates the playing of these traditional instruments through a variety of mountain tunes. Because of the instruments' versatility, the group also performs tunes of other genres including Celtic, sacred, ragtime, ballads, and Christmas carols. The Dulcimer Dames have performed at nursing homes, festivals, coffee shops, and weddings. Come visit the Quilt Show and enjoy some mountain heritage through music as you browse the collection of stunning needlework created by area quilters.

Hit & Miss Engines

Step back into the past by viewing demonstrations with gasoline engines.

Today, electric Maytag washers are used, but our forefathers used machines with gasoline engine power. A person had to step repeatedly on the pedal to start the machine. Exhaust was taken outside via a flex metal pipe. Wash day was such an ordeal. "Hit and miss" engines were used to pump water, operate sawmills and grind grain. Turning the flywheel by hand start-ed these engines. The name "hit and miss" came from the noise made by the piston. The piston turned several times before it would "hit" again, and thus hit and miss.

Visit the Bridgewater Boys and others at the Potomac Highlands Recreation Center parking lot with their Maytag and hit and miss engine demonstrations on Saturday, from 9 a.m. until parade time.

Little Switzerland Cloggers

The Little Switzerland Cloggers are one of the oldest Clogging groups in the state and have performed at fairs, festivals, events, parties, and corporate events throughout Virginia and West Virginia. With a goal to have something in their shows for everyone, the group performs to a wide variety of music from bluegrass and country to oldies and today's top hits. Whether you're eight or 80, you will enjoy a Little Switzerland Cloggers' show. Plus, everything is 100% family-friendly but on a level suited for children through adult audiences.

Performances can be customized for any audience, event, or time frame. If your event calls for traditional dress and music, we can accommodate. Something directly suited for children? We can do that. A more contemporary performance for a corporate event? We've got you. Clogging is one of (if not the) most versatile dance forms and has grown considerably from the traditional stereotype of crinolines, petticoats, and Hee-Haw. (Though, that is still very important!)

Our dancers range from 6 to 40-years-old and consist of beginner-level students to award-winning, championship dancers including two All-American inductees. Dancers are well-trained in proper Clogging and dance technique and execution as well as appropriate body care, warm-up, and stretching.

The Little Switzerland Cloggers have been performing since 1985 and are still going strong. We would love to entertain at your event or an event near year. If you'd like to suggest an event or schedule a performance, please contact Director Dorothy Stephenson at dorothy.stephenson18@gmail.com or call (540) 468-2800. Our performance at this year's Treasure Mountain Festi-val will be Saturday at 10:00 a.m. on the Main Stage.

Treasure Mountain Festival Quilt Show 2021

The Sew and Sews Quilt Guild presents its annual Quilt Show from Sept. 17-19 in the Pendleton Community Building. Area residents display beautiful contemporary and heirloom quilts from 9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and from 10:00 a.m. until noon on Sunday. A kaleidoscope of colors and a varied array of designs will delight visitors to the show.

Quilters and needle crafters from Pendleton and surrounding counties are encouraged to enter the show that is organized by the Sew and Sews Quilt Guild. Membership in the guild is not a requirement to enter. Ribbons are awarded in many categories including both antique and modern quilts, wear-ables (i.e. vests and purses), and needlework. A youth division is provided for exhibitors 18 years and younger.

Each year members of the Sew and Sews Quilt Guild participate in an annual challenge. This year the theme is a "Kaleidoscope of Colors". Each member was given an identical fabric that must be incorporated into their wall hanging and was encouraged to embrace any idea that the phrase "Kaleidoscope of Colors" inspired. The display promises to be interesting and unique.

The Sew and Sews Quilt Guild this year will raffle off a beautiful hand-made quilt. Members of the guild came together and pieced a beautiful quilt top, it was then given to Melinda Walker who long arm quilted the top. This beautiful handmade quilt will be displayed in the window of the Pendleton Community Bank. Tickets can be purchased from any member of the Guild and also at the Quilt Show. Drawing for the quilt will be after the parade on Saturday.

The items that are displayed in the TMF Quilt Show represent thousands of hours of craftsmanship. Great care will be taken to keep them in fine condition. No food or drink is allowed in the display area. Items cannot be touched, but one of the guild members (wearing white gloves) can show you the back of an item if you are interested. The show also includes a table of hand-made crafts for sale.

History has shown the act of quilting has evolved from items of practicality and simplicity, to lovely pieced and appliqued works of art. Quilts of colonial times were whole cloth quilts which were made by layering a solid top and bottom with filling in between. The sole purpose of the quilt was warmth. Women had little or no time for detailed needlework. As time moved on and settlements grew quilting bees developed. This was a time when women could gather around a quilting frame to quilt and socialize. Family news would be shared as well as recipes and child rearing tips.

As families moved West, so did quilts and the act of quilting. Women knew quilting supplies and time to quilt would be scarce. They would gather as many quilts and as much fabric as possible and pack them in their wagons. Numerous quilts were made and given as gifts to the pioneers as reminders of friends and loved ones back home.

The Civil War brought several myths concerning quilts. One myth states certain patterns of quilts were hung on clotheslines to indicate these houses were safe stops for the Underground Railroad. Many historians claim this to be untrue. However, both Southern and Northern women made quilts for soldiers. Many soldiers on both sides were buried wrapped in quilts they carried from home.

As time moved on so did the art of quilting. Quilters have seen many changes in fabrics, patterns, notions and methods of quilting. In the late 1800's early 1900's Crazy Quilts became the fad. These quilts were made from many different fabrics and embellished with different embroidery stitches and designs. During the Depression years quilts were often made as a way of earning money to help the families. It was during this time that feed sacks became popular fabric for making quilts and clothing. Manufacturers began making their feed and flour sacks in colors and prints. Feed sacks remained popular fabrics well after World War II.

Although there have been many changes to quilting through time, the one thing that has remained constant is the love and pride quilters have for their art and creations. Please come and visit the Sew and Sews Quilt Guild Quilt Show and see the beautiful creations the artistic quilters from our area have created. Enjoy!

Lizzy Long and Little Roy

Friday, Sept. 17, 6:00 p.m. 8 p.m. Main Stage

Lizzy Long - Fiddle, Banjo, Guitar, resonator banjo, vocals

Having roots in the heart of the south, Elizabeth Long, or Lizzy as her friends and fans know her was born on a farm in Lincolnton, Georgia. She began her music accomplishment at an early age. While starting out on the piano, Lizzy soon took up the fiddle, guitar, autoharp, bass, banjo, and mandolin, and has become an accomplished musician, alternating between these instruments as part of her entertainment repertoire. She has played with great acts such as Mac Wiseman, Jim and Jesse, The Lewis Family, and Earl Scruggs. Continuing her quest for success, Lizzy has paired up with Little Roy Lewis from the legendary Lewis Family. Her extraordinary voice shimmers with strains of America's musical roots. Lizzy has won "Bluegrass Song of the Year" for several songs including "Mountain Top," a duet with Ty Herndon called "When We Fly," and "He Washed My Soul." Most recently at the 2015 GMA Dove awards she was awarded Best Bluegrass Song of the Year for a Duet with Rhonda Vincent called "God is There." She is one of the youngest fiddlers to be inducted into "America's Old Time Fiddler's Country Hall of Fame" in LeMars, IA. Her latest solo Album "Blueberry Pie" has ranked as high as #2 on Billboard's Bluegrass Charts. Little Roy summed it up the best, "pull a plank off the wall and she'll play it!"

Little Roy - Banjo, Guitar, Crazy, etc.

Little Roy is awfully hard to overlook. He makes sure that no one in the audience gets bored at any time. Little Roy has won awards as Entertainer as well as for his banjo playing. Little Roy learned to play banjo when he was only six years old, and won a local talent contest for his playing when he was eight. Little Roy's favorite banjo players are Don Reno and Earl Scruggs. USA Today called Little Roy 'a banjo master, truly a picker's picker'. Little Roy can also be found playing the guitar and autoharp. In fact, the song 'Good Time Get-Together' was written to highlight his instrumental skills. Little Roy is multi-talented - he sings, plays many instruments, tells stories, and acts. When you see this Duo, you are sure to notice Little Roy, and he'll make you smile. He has been inducted into the Georgia Music Hall of Fame, SPGBMA Hall of Greats, IBMA Hall of Honor, and the Southern Gospel Music Hall of Fame.

TMF Welcomes Spencer Hatcher

Saturday, September 18, at 11 a.m. Main Stage

From The Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, Spencer started his band in 2020 and started touring that same year. His brother Connor adds tight vocal harmonies that are unheard of, and adds his own special double-timed runs on the bass that give them their special sound. Austin Taylor completes the band with his own original beat and unique rhythm on the drums. Spencer has over 500,000 followers on social media and well over 30 million views on his videos. Spencer plays mostly new and classic country, his own original songs, and some hard driving bluegrass songs. He is a fast and upcoming country artist you don't want to miss. His shows always leave fans hungry for more!

Honkytonk Highway

Saturday, Sept. 18, 6:00 p.m. 8 p.m. Main Stage

Honkytonk Highway is a group dedicated to the performance and preservation of real country music for real people. While many performing artists offer up "an eclectic mix," Honkytonk Highway offers up truly classic country music and nothing else. If you like cornbread and beans, if George Jones is your president, if you still have a crush on Tammy Wynette, then you need to take a trip down the Honkytonk Highway.

James Painter, Danny Dolinger, Mason Dove and Roberto Garcia all hail from the Shenandoah Valley and Central Appalachia where music roots run deep. Collectively they have backgrounds in Country and Western, Bluegrass, Blues, Folk, Western Swing and many other forms of classic American music. Together they formed Honkytonk Highway to share their love of true Country music. From Hank Williams to Waylon and Willie, Johnny Cash and Jerry Reed, the men on the Honkytonk Highway are gonna roll up their sleeves, break out the Telecasters and get er done.

The Keplinger Bluegrass Band

Friday, September 17th at 2:00 pm Town Lot

The Keplinger Family have been playing Bluegrass music since 1980. They have recorded several albums over the years and performed on the original WWVA Wheeling Jamboree at the Capital Music Hall in Wheeling, West Virginia. The family has received several awards over the years and has continued to perform for almost 40 years.

The group has played many shows throughout the years in many states and had the pleasure to perform with many of the greats. They have done local and national television and radio programs. They have produced several original songs including one with Albert Whetzel Jr. called "Down in Old Smoke Holes" an original song about the Moonshining in the Smoke Hole region of Grant County West Virginia.

Even today they get together at least once a week and perform. Almost every Thursday evening you can come and join along with many others at The Mullin's 1847 Restaurant in Moorefield, WV where music meets the past in the old Historical Hotel.

Over the years the family has taken on a new responsibility of continuing Traditional Bluegrass music. This along with a touch of new original material helps create a new class of entertaining and sharing the roots of their music.

The Keplinger Bluegrass Band still maintains the four original family members (Connie, Eddie, Jr, and Billy) plus some new talented members to round out the group and bring forth a new experience in the professional music scene.

South River Express

Saturday, Sept. 18, 6 p.m., Town Lot

From the rolling hills of Rockingham County, Virginia, Treasure Mountain Festival welcomes the South River Express band. Tim Kyger is the lead member and plays guitar and harmonica. Jeff Mace plays banjo and Glen Showalter plays mandolin. Tim, Jeff and Glen have performed together for 25 years. Janice Kyger and Carrie Trzicak started singing with the guys last year.

Vapor 4:14

Thursday Night Kickoff – Sept. 16, 7 p.m., Main Stage
Friday, Sept. 17, 4 p.m., Town Lot

Vapor 4:14 will be kicking things off for the 51st Annual Treasure Mountain Festival on Thursday at 7 p.m. on the Main Stage.

Tim Wittig on bass, Shana Bowers, vocal and rhythm guitar, and Mark Updike on Mandolin. Wittig is from Fulks Run, VA. Updike is from Broadway, VA, and Bowers lives Pendleton County.

Vapor 4:14 has been an existing band since 2008, They have enjoyed playing all over Pendleton County for lots of events and looking forward to kicking off the festival

James 4:14, For we do not know what tomorrow will bring, for what is your life, a vapor, here for a little while and then vanishes away.

Their music includes bluegrass, country, Contemporary Christian, old time gospel and some of their original songs that they love to share.

If you miss the opener, they will be performing again on Friday at 2 p.m. in the Town Parking Lot.

Juanita Fireball and the Continental Drifters

Saturday, Sept. 18, 1 p.m., Town Lot

Juanita Fireball and the Continental Drifters debuted at the Pocahontas Opera House in 2008, although they have been making music in one form or another for years. They play the Appalachian string band tunes that they learned from old-timers in West Virginia, Virginia, and North Carolina, and sing songs about animals, outlaws, fruit and love, with a few gospel numbers for balance. The high energy of their hard-driving music will have you dancing. The band consists of Mike Burns ("Juanita Fireball") and Jay Lockman ("Pluto") on twin fiddles, Mary Sue Burns ("Lulu") on clawhammer banjo, Wayne Walton ("Handyman") on the dog-house bass, and John Sparks ("Rev. Sleepy John") and Terry Richardson ("Double Dog") on guitar.

Stoney Creek Bluegrass Band

Saturday, Sept. 18, 1 p.m. & 4p.m. Main Stage

During its 20+ years of entertaining bluegrass audiences in the Mid-Atlantic region, Stoney Creek Bluegrass Band has been named "West Virginia's classic bluegrass band" by Around the Panhandle magazine, and praised as "mainstream bluegrass at its best" by Bluegrass Unlimited magazine.

"We try to put on a show that will entertain any music fan, even if they don't consider themselves a bluegrass fan," says vocalist Libby Files. "Our music ranges from hard driving traditional bluegrass to bluegrass gospel and some slower dance numbers." Files also describes the music as "down-home." "It reminds you of the kind of atmosphere you were around as a kid. It's farmland stuff people can relate to. Just good, old down-to-earth music."

"Libby is among the rising number of female vocalists who are making a big impact on bluegrass music," said Frank Journey, founder of Virginia's Berryville Bluegrass Series.

In 2020, Stoney Creek released the single "A Miner's Life." Originally recorded by Charlie Waller and the Country Gentlemen, Stoney Creek's recording spent five weeks at No. 1 nationally on the Roots Music Report Top

Maysville Express

Saturday, Sept. 18, 11 a.m. Town Lot

Maysville Express is a local band, playing mostly traditional bluegrass and bluegrass gospel music. They began as part of another band, and started out in Maysville, having practice sessions at McGuinness' Store on Jordan Run. Hence, this led to naming the band Maysville Express. They formed in September 2012 and are currently comprised of five members. Mark Bennett of Burlington, originally of Harman, plays upright bass and sings lead and assist vocals. His wife Deloris (Dolly) Bennett of Burlington, plays a rhythm chop on the mandolin and assists with vocals. Jim Moreland of Maysville, plays guitar and sings most of the lead vocals, along with assisting. Bryson Helmick of Maysville plays banjo and assists with vocals. Jeremie Hamilton of Oakland, MD, plays fiddle and manages their Facebook page. They are occasionally joined by other musicians who show up to help out, especially when one of the members cannot be there.

Maysville Express has performed at several churches, Ruritans, community events, fundraisers, ice cream socials, and festivals in the surrounding area, as well as a few private events. They have had the privilege to perform at Pickin' in Parsons in 2016 and South Branch Valley Bluegrass Festival in Romney in 2017. They have performed at the Romney Peach Festival several years, as well as playing on the train as part of the Romney History Festival. They have also previously performed at the Spring Mountain Festival and Treasure Mountain Festival. They are currently working on a CD that will feature all gospel music. Plans are already underway for recording one with some of the favorite bluegrass tunes we are asked to perform.

If you would be interested in booking Maysville Express for your event, you can reach them via their Facebook page at facebook.com/MaysvilleExpress or by calling 304-289-5378 or 304-749-7397 for more information.

50 Bluegrass Song Chart (based on radio airplay). The song spent six weeks at No. 1 on the Bluegrass Jamboree's Top 15 Chart. "A Miner's Life" was featured on West Virginia Public Broadcasting's Inside Appalachia program and was among the top played songs for 2020 on numerous bluegrass radio stations. "This song, the composition, the recording is pure genius," according to bluegrass enthusiast Ed Henry.

The band has seen radio airplay with original songs including "Come Stay Awhile," "Never Tell Me," "The Traveling Song," "Thirty Years" and "Fast Train." The band's music videos have gained a following on social media, due in part to their reflection of the traditional bluegrass sound and rural lifestyle. "Fast Train" reached No. 1 nationally on the Roots Music Report Top 50 Bluegrass Song Chart. The single "Thirty Years" spent five weeks at No. 1 on the RMR chart.

Stoney Creek Bluegrass Band features Libby Files on vocals and bass, Brett Smeltzer on mandolin and vocals, Kenton "Red" Catlett on guitar and vocals, and Troy Stangle on banjo, resonator guitar and vocals.

Bear Hill Bluegrass

Friday, Sept. 17, 6:00 p.m. Town Lot

True traditional bluegrass music from the Appalachian Mountains of West Virginia. Bear Hill has the right combination of high energy, comedy, and audience participation.

These four versatile musicians can adjust their repertoire as needed whether it be hard driving bluegrass, bluegrass gospel, or classic country mix. Having played venues with the top entertainers like JR Sisk and Ramblers Choice, Mountain Heart, and Claire Lynch, Bear Hill is a musical force coming to the front of the music scene. We are all about having fun with the audience. Our band has a friendly, bouncing, energetic, down-home manner on stage. You will be impressed by the strong vocals, harmony, and great songs. The band consists of Lee Fincham on Banjo, Lance Donahue on Mandolin, Janet Winebrenner on Upright Bass and Joe Winebrenner Jr on Guitar.

CANTRELL & CASH

Friday, Sept. 17, 1:00 p.m. Main Stage

Nashville musician Scott Cash was keyboardist for country legends Patty Loveless, Shelly West and Tom T. Hall, and played for 11 years with the Statler Brothers. A native of Staunton Virginia, Scott has returned home where he plays with several bands in the Shenandoah Valley, and is a full-time member of the Skillbillies.

Lead singer of Pat Cantrell & High Country, Pat Cantrell has been regularly featured on TV shows Virginia Dreams Center Stage, Gospel Sunday Morning and Welcome to the Ranch. Pat previously appeared at the Treasure Mountain Festival with the Country Store Opry.

Along with harmony singer from Pat Cantrell & High Country, Teresa Wheeling, they tour the East Coast, performing mostly in Staunton and surrounds.

Cantrell & Cash perform at fairs & festivals, dances, wineries and breweries, restaurants and private parties.

Patty Adkins (as Minnie Pearl)

Friday, Sept. 17, 7:00 p.m. Main Stage

It's the reaction from the audience that keeps Patty performing. She gives God the praise for blessing her with a sense of humor. Patty says, "Laughter is the best medicine in the world. It eases your burdens and gives you a brighter outlook on life. I keep joke books in the bedroom and try to read something humorous every day. It ensures that I begin my day with a smile."

Patty has performed in various productions of the WV Theater East over the years. She was choir director on the Main Street United Methodist Church for over 40 years. It was at church where she met Elsie Whitmer who performed with the Pansy Country Store Opry for many years as Minnie Pearl.

The original Cousin Minnie Pearl was Sarah Ophelia Colley. She was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame in 1975. She was neither a singer nor musician which tells us what a special person she was to the Opry. Sarah died in 1995 but her legacy continues to flourish as folks like Patty keep her image alive and laughter ringing throughout audiences.

Patty was born in Kanawha County, WV and grew up there. She began her teaching career there in 1963. She married David Adkins and they moved to Grant County where both retired from the education field after thirty years. They have one son, Joe David.

Period Costume Contest

Costumes reflecting the history of Pendleton County will be worn at the Treasure Mountain Festival Costume Judging on Friday, Sept. 17, at 4 p.m. on the Main Stage. Anyone may enter, wearing an outfit reflecting any aspect of Pendleton County heritage. Here is your chance to show off the old-time apparel you own or display your skill at recreating garb representing Pendleton County's past.

Prize ribbons will be awarded in several categories for men, women, boys and girls for authentic old-time clothing and reproductions of historic outfits.

TMF Queen to be Crowned Sept. 11

The 2021 Miss Treasure Mountain Festival Pageant will be held at 7:00pm Saturday, September 11th at the Pendleton County High School auditorium.

The pageant is open to all young ladies that are legal residents of West Virginia and fulfill the regulations for the appropriate category of their age. Preteen contestants are ages 9-11. Teen contestants are ages 12-15. Queen contestants are ages 16-21. The Teen and Queen contestants will compete in personal interview with the judges. All contestants will compete in personal sense of style, evening gown, and finalists have an on-stage interview. Applications are due September 6th, 2021.

The winner in the Queen division will receive a $500.00 cash prize, lodging and entry fee paid to the 2022 WV Association of Fairs and Festivals Pageant, crown, sash, plaque, and flowers. The Teen Queen will be presented with a $100.00 cash prize, crown, sash, plaque, flowers. The Preteen Queen will receive a crown, sash, plaque, and flowers. Prizes will also be awarded to a 1st runner-up, 2nd runner up, Miss Photogenic, Miss Congeniality, and a Crowd Favorite in each division. The new queens will reign over the 53rd Annual Treasure Mountain Festival.

Taylor Aldridge from Ridgely was crowned the 2019-2020 Miss Treasure Mountain Festival Queen. Brooklyn Rohrbaugh from Maysville was crowned the 2019-2020 Teen Miss Treasure Mountain Festival Queen. Madelyn Johnson from Petersburg was crowned the 2019-2020 Preteen Miss Treasure Mountain Festival Queen. These young women were crowned in 2019 and were given the opportunity to represent the festival for a second year due to being unable to hold a 2020 pageant.

Aldridge represented the Treasure Mountain Festival at the 2020 West Virginia Association of Fairs and Festivals Pageant in Charleston and placed in the top 16 out of 90 contestants. She is the first Miss Treasure Mountain Festival to place in the top 16 and the first young lady to have won Miss Treasure Mountain Festival in all three divisions. Aldridge was crowned the Preteen Queen in 2011 and the Teen Queen in 2016.

Friends of the Library Book Sale

Welcome to the Friends of the Library Book Sale! Friends of the Library was organized as a support group for Pendleton County Library, providing funds for the summer reading program, special purchases and other needs.
Books are donated year-round to the Library. After the Librarians select those that should go on the shelves, the rest are taken downstairs to be sorted into categories for the sale.
The first Treasure Mountain Festival book sales were small, taking up only half the community room, sharing that space with an art show. But the event has grown. The book sale now fills the entire room, and a spring sale has been added.

Most prices are low ($1 or less), so people who love to read can stock up. Categories include large print, children's books, popular authors, mysteries and thrillers, travel, history, biographies and much more.

The book sale is held in the community room on the lower level of the Pendleton County Library, off South Branch Street. Hours for this year's sale are: Thursday 12 to 4, Friday 10 to 4, Saturday 10 to 5, and Sunday 12 to 4.
Come shop at the book sale! Help the Friends help the library.
